matrix scm

‘It is from Milton Keynes that Matrix SCM has evolved from an embryonic state to a medium sized business’

Why Milton Keynes

“The best thing about being located Milton Keynes is the blend of space, travel/transport links, structural costs, good availability of labour and decent local amenities”

Matrix SCM is a services procurement business serving the public sector. We buy a variety of business services on behalf of more than sixty local authorities around the UK

Matrix SCM’s office has been located in Milton Keynes since 2008. They believe that Milton Keynes, home to the head offices of some major UK businesses, is an excellent location to trade from. Thanks to great transport links and an appropriately educated and skilled labour pool, they have never regretted relocating from London. Importantly, Central Milton Keynes provides their employees with a safe and clean working environment and access to decent local amenities (e.g. car parking, shopping, catering and entertainment)

“Whilst the UK’s political centre is located in London, we don’t subscribe to a London-centric view of the world. We firmly believe that many central government objectives will only be met with the full engagement of local authorities and we believe that Matrix SCM can better serve the needs of more authorities by being located away from the capital”

Business Development

Since 2008, Matrix SCM has experienced significant growth - turnover and workforce has grown year on year and in 2013 the size of the office space in Midsummer Boulevard doubled. They now employ more than fifty members of staff, many of whom are graduates from the local and surrounding areas. The range of services procured on behalf of customers has increased and they have bold expansion plans for future

Milton Keynes Expansion

The offices used to be located in London and Matrix SCM relocated to Milton Keynes following financial, structural and managerial developments. It is from Milton Keynes that this business has evolved from an embryonic state to a medium sized business managing £400 million of local authority expenditure “Matrix SCM are keen to work with the local business community and political organisations and whilst we source the majority of our employees from the local area, we’d like to develop closer relationships with the local colleges and procure more of our support services from local partners (training, stationary, printing, creative agency support etc.).

Partnership Working
